

Requirement #1 Iraq

The Contractor shall provide program management services necessary to rapidly and securely recruit and deploy foreign language interpretation and translation services in support of United States Forces and its Unified Commands (USEUCOM, USCENTCOM, USSOUTHCOM, USNORTHCOM, USPACOM), Specified Commands, attached combined and joint elements supporting military operations throughout the world, and other U.S. Government Agencies as required. These contract linguist services allow our forces to communicate with the local populace, gather information for Force Protection, and interact with other foreign military units.

These services will support all worldwide linguist contingency military operations and missions related to this requirement. This effort requires approximately 5,000 Category I linguists, 900 Category II linguists and 150 Category III linguists with the primary language being Arabic as well as various foreign language capabilities to support current intelligence efforts.

These operations may or may not have predefined or predictable work locations, hours, or duration. Contractor personnel shall be required to live and work in harsh and hostile environments and remain in the operations area for as long as required.

The Contractor shall provide interpretation and translation services as required by the supported forces up to 24 hours per day, seven (7) days per week for all operations. Linguists shall be at the specified site for a minimum 8 hours per day and may be extended to 12-hours and on-call for the remaining 12-hours, depending on mission requirements. The contractor program manager, and all contractor on-site representatives shall be available 24 hours per day.

All requirements will be identified by individual task orders.

Requirement #2 Afghanistan, GTMO (Guantanamo Bay, Cuba), and Emerging Requirements (Small Business Set-Aside)

The Contractor shall provide program management services necessary to rapidly and securely recruit and deploy foreign language interpretation and translation services in support of United States Forces and its Unified Commands (USEUCOM, USCENTCOM, USSOUTHCOM, USNORTHCOM, USPACOM), Specified Commands, attached combined and joint elements supporting military operations throughout the world, and other U.S. Government Agencies as required. These contract linguist services allow our forces to communicate with the local populace, gather information for Force Protection, and interact with other foreign military units.

These services will support all worldwide linguist contingency military operations and missions related to this requirement. This effort requires approximately 250 Category I linguists, 250 Category II linguists and 25 Category III linguists with the primary focus on the language of Pashtu as well as various foreign language capabilities to support current intelligence efforts.

These operations may or may not have predefined or predictable work locations, hours, or duration. Contractor personnel may be required to live and work in harsh and hostile environments and remain in the operations area for as long as required.

Linguists shall be at the specified site for a minimum 8 hours per day and may be extended to 12-hours and on-call for the remaining 12-hours, depending on mission requirements. The contractor program manager, and all contractor on-site representatives shall be available 24 hours per day.

All requirements will be identified by individual task orders.

Requirement #3 Exercise Support (Small Business Set-Aside)

The Contractor shall provide program management services necessary to rapidly and securely recruit and field foreign language interpretation and translation services in support of United States Forces and its Unified Commands (USEUCOM, USCENTCOM, USSOUTHCOM, USNORTHCOM, USPACOM), Specified Commands, attached combined and joint elements, and other U.S. Government Agencies as required in support of training Exercises. These contract linguist services will allow our forces to train in a simulated real-world environment.

These services will support training Exercises, primarily within CONUS, in preparation for OCONUS contingencies. This effort will require approximately 300 Category I linguist with the primary focus on the language of Arabic as well as other various foreign language capabilities to support current intelligence efforts.

Training Exercises, although scheduled well in advance, are prone to short-suspense, last minute changes due to real-world events. Contractor personnel shall routinely be required to live and work in harsh field conditions and remain in the training area as long as required.

The Contractor shall provide interpretation and translation services as required by the supported forces up to 24 hours per day, seven (7) days per week for all Exercises. Linguists shall be at the specified site for a minimum 8 hours per day and may be extended to 12-hours and on-call for the remaining 12-hours, depending on mission training requirements. The contractor program manager, and all contractor on-site representatives shall be available 24 hours per day.

All requirements will be identified by individual task orders.
